Dear [redacted]

STATINTL

This is to thank you more formally for your many courtesies to me on my recent trip to [redacted] and particularly for the high honor of having dinner with you in your home. I am sorry that Mrs. Carter could not be with me because I have told her so many fine things about you both and she is anxious to meet you.

I had the misfortune of being hospitalized for five days in Honolulu on my return but am now back at my desk, fully operational. Mrs. Carter was especially appreciative of your thoughtfulness in sending her the lovely dinner cloth, place settings, and napkins -- they are truly lovely and are a wonderful addition to our home. We also much appreciate the boxes of tea which have a most outstanding fragrance and which we enjoy almost every day.

Mrs. Carter joins me in our thanks again for your many personal thoughts and gifts, and with warm personal regards,

Faithfully yours,

STATINTL
